1. Bedford, Freeman & Worth Calculus
2. Cengage Learning Calculus
3. Fueleducation Calculus
4. Pearson Calculus

PURPOSE: Textbook Adoption.

EXPLANATION: Schools may not need to purchase new AP Calculus and AP Statistics books this year for every student. Each high school will determine what is needed. The purpose of the bid is to adopt the textbooks and provide approved vendors for future years. District-wide, there are approximately 400 students needing calculus books and 300 students needing statistics materials for 2016-17.

BUDGET: 2016-2017 Textbook Budget of Individual Schools

BID SELECTED: See attached summary

Recommendations to the Board of Education: Inasmuch as each of the suppliers have unique products that are different from their competitors, it is difficult to identify any supplier who is superior to the others in all areas. Therefore, the Purchasing Department recommends making a multiple award to all of the bidders so that schools may buy from whichever supplier has the best offering for them. Pearson, Cengage Learning, and Bedford Freeman all include materials that are approved by the State of Utah for use as primary source in the classroom. Fueleducation, an online resource only, will be a secondary choice because their materials haven't been reviewed by the state as yet, but could potentially add value to students in the future.
